All about the location

Puerto de Pollensa is a coastal town in the north of Mallorca, known for its picturesque location and relaxed atmosphere. With around 6,000 inhabitants, it is the perfect size to enjoy a lively yet tranquil life. Surrounded by the mountainous backdrop of the Sierra de Tramuntana and located directly on the sheltered bay of Pollensa, the town offers a unique blend of sea and nature. The distance to Palma is around 60 km and the airport is around 65 km away. A highlight of the area is the long beach promenade, the "Pine Walk", which is lined with old pine trees and offers walks with impressive views of the bay. The beaches of Puerto de Pollensa, with their fine sand and clear water, are ideal for families and water sports enthusiasts. Not far away is the famous Formentor Beach, one of the most beautiful beaches in Mallorca. The harbor and the picturesque fishing boats give the village an authentic charm, while sights such as the house of the famous writer Agatha Christie or the nearby old town of Alcúdia, with its Roman ruins, provide an insight into the history and culture of the island. The proximity to Cap Formentor, the northernmost point of the island, with its dramatic coastal landscape and breathtaking views over the deep blue Mediterranean make this place a popular excursion destination. The bird sanctuary "S'Albufereta" in the surroundings of Puerto de Pollensa is also a paradise for nature lovers and attracts many birdwatchers. Puerto de Pollensa thus combines natural beauty, a high quality of life and cultural wealth in a fascinating way, making it a sought-after location for property buyers looking for a luxurious life close to nature in Mallorca.
