A first impression

A generously proportioned home, featuring bright rooms, a practical layout, and pleasant views of the greenery: a rental property designed for those seeking spacious living and comfort in their daily lives.

The entryway leads into a particularly spacious and well-organized living area.

The living room consists of several interconnected spaces, enhanced by numerous windows and French doors that ensure ample natural light and create a constant visual connection with the outdoor greenery.

The Palladian-style floors, varying in shade and composition, lend personality to the spaces and evoke the home's original character.

The dining area, directly connected to the living room, has its own access to the outdoors and opens onto the separate kitchen, which is already furnished and organized in a functional layout.

The layout of the rooms allows for a clear distinction between the spaces dedicated to socializing and those for daily activities, without sacrificing the continuity of the living area.

The sleeping area offers several comfortably sized bedrooms, featuring hardwood floors and views of the surrounding greenery.

There are two bathrooms, both with windows; one features a bathtub and the other a shower.

An additional comfort feature is the air conditioning installed in several rooms, while heating is provided by traditional radiators.

The large windows and the greenery immediately outside help create a pleasant sense of openness and privacy.

This property is ideal for discerning clients seeking a rental home with spacious, well-distributed rooms.
